

Roads to Resilience

Working with Midlands Farmers for resilient, profitable businesses

Farming is changing

What do resilient farm businesses really look like? How can farms successfully adopt proven solutions and find new ones to be profitable, resilient and regenerative? Be one of 40 farmers in the Midlands to find out.

Over three years, work with experts from Andersons, the GWCT Allerton Project and Ricardo to baseline your business, looking across the whole farm to tackle challenges, and unlock opportunities. Get fully-funded 1:1 business and environmental advice, tailored workshops, accredited training, peer networking, and support to future-proof your farm.

Applications must be submitted by mid-August.

One-to-one advice

Business Advice – A face-to-face farm business review with an Andersons business consultant, a detailed report, a follow-up meeting. This can include:

- A review of your business
- Help with future planning
- Advice on business structure
- Analysis of capital investment and future funding
- Tenancy help
- Diversification advice

Environmental and Regenerative

Farming Advice – A one-to-one visit from an environmental adviser, a report of options for your farm and follow-up advice on taking actions forward. Advice is tailored to your needs and can include:

- Government grants and schemes
- Private grants, projects and premiums
- Farm carbon assessment
- Regenerative agriculture
- Enhancing biodiversity
- Watercourse protection
- Pollution prevention

Tailored workshops

Expand and increase your own findings by comparing and discussing these with peers through farm visits and regular discussion.

The programme of focussed workshops with experts will look at all aspects of business, environmental and personal resilience. Key topics will include: soil health, regenerative practices, wildlife and habitats, environmental schemes, Defra updates and business and accounting support.

Accredited training

BASIS Sustainable Land Management courses (1-day or 5-day options) worth up to £1300.

Bespoke training courses covering soil, water, cover crops and regenerative farming.

Online toolbox

Access to an online toolbox of farm business and environment courses, information and self-help checklists.

Who do we want to work with

- ✓ Farmers looking to improve business resilience and take steps on the journey to more sustainable farming.
- ✓ Farmers keen to work with us for 3 years, including a programme of workshops, 1-2-1 advice and peer-to-peer learning.

Click here or scan the QR code to apply for the Roads to Resilience – Farm Support programme

✉ r2r@ricardo.com

☎ 01235 753 530

The programme is managed by Ricardo, working in partnership with Allerton Project, Andersons and with funding from Elm Tree Trust.

